Spiritual Harmony

There is a connection between spiritual distress and physical health, and if we aspire to live long healthy lives we must strive for spiritual harmony. Unfortunately, today we see the acknowledgement around the world that there is disharmony and conflict as a result of racial inequality. While the focal point is the United States, we are not immune to it in Canada. The message should be that even when we conquer coronavirus - and we shall - we will continue to suffer until we transcend the conflict in the world. Yet, just as we have eluded the virus, at the Snider Campus we have managed to ward off racism and conflict! How? With the never-ending focus on compassion, mercy and respect for life.
